As companies get employees back to work and settle in to the new COVID-19 workplace, it is important to develop the necessary policies and forms to deal with the new workplace challenges. Cozen O'Connor's Labor and Employment Team has developed a new COVID-19 HR Toolkit to help businesses overcome this challenge and this webinar will focus on the most important parts of that toolkit, including:

- COVID-19 policy on distancing, hygiene and facial coverings in the workplace
- Protocol for responding to a positive test case, including steps for contact tracing
- Notice to potentially exposed workers
- Employee medical screening forms and policies
- Request form for leave under the Families First Coronavirus Response Act
- Checklist and forms for responding to employee accommodation requests
