

Coronavirus and Cannabis: Assessing the Current Challenges and Long-Term Impacts for the Industry

Wednesday, March 25, 2020

Joe Bedwick discussed with Cannabis Business Times about some of the broader trends he's seeing in the market, the frequently asked questions from his clients, and what the industry might look like at the end of the global pandemic. "Everybody is doing what they can to weather the storm, and cannabis businesses are no different. They're a regulated industry, but they are, at their heart, a business that just needs to weather the storm like any other business," said Joe.

To read more of this article, click here.

Industry Sectors

• Cannabis