While artificial intelligence (AI) has been around for some time, the rapidly increasing use of generative AI tools, such as ChatGPT and Bard, has prompted many businesses to assess its use, potential, risks, and rewards. Lisa A. Ferrari and Janice Agresti will lead a roundtable discussion titled “Generative AI and Implications in Employment and Copyright Law” and discuss the risks and rewards associated with using generative AI across many sectors, as well as the many legal and practical considerations to keep in mind when doing so, including copyright considerations, employment considerations, and more.
