Adam practices exclusively in the area of private wealth services, trusts and estates to help his clients protect and preserve their family legacy, values, and wealth. He is fortunate to spend his days working with families, individuals, and business owners in navigating the ocean of issues that come with generational wealth.

Adam takes pride in being a trusted adviser to his clients and understanding their unique needs in order to provide tailored solutions and achieve their goals. In addition to developing estate plans with his clients and drafting their estate planning documents, Adam counsels his clients on the ins and outs of straightforward and sophisticated tax-saving strategies, business succession and exit planning, and complex estate and trust administrations.

Adam's experience as an estate litigator aids him in anticipating and mitigating potential risks, as well as successfully resolving disputes that may arise. Admitted to practice law in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia, Adam has the mid-Atlantic covered.

Adam received his undergraduate degree from Villanova University (Go Cats!) and his law degree from Temple University, Beasley School of Law.
