

The Dotted Line: What DOT's Final DBE Rule Means for Civil Contractors

Tuesday, April 30, 2024

Lawrence Prosen was quoted in a Construction Dive article discussing the DOT's new final rule for its Disadvantaged Business Enterprise workforce participation plan, which refines and specifies numerous aspects of the plan. "They've taken the existing program and they've augmented it," said Larry. "They've provided some clarity, which overall should definitely be a plus for both prime contractors and subs."

To read the full article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Construction Law

Industry Sectors

- Real Estate & Construction