Rangi primarily focuses her practice on representing corporate clients and insurance carriers in cases involving personal injury, construction defect, professional liability, insurance coverage, and employment-related claims. She has a successful track record of providing high-quality legal counsel from the initial claim to mediation, arbitration, and trial.

Rangi brings more than a decade of experience in insurance litigation. Before joining the firm, she practiced as a senior litigation associate with a firm in Los Angeles. Before that, she was an associate with a California-based firm, where she honed her litigation skills working with insurance carrier clients.

Rangi earned her B.A. in political science from the University of California, Riverside, and her J.D. from the Western State University College of Law.
